

PoCUS- the NEW jewel in medical imaging!

POCUS or Point-of-care ultrasound refers to the practice of trained medical professionals using ultrasound to diagnose problems WHEREVER a patient is being treated, whether that's in a modern hospital, an ambulance, GP clinic, an oil platform or a remote village.

In this lecture, Dr Rahman will explain more about PoCUS and how it is going to change medical practice. PoCUS is already considered one of the biggest changes in medicine within the last 5 years.
